Position summary

The Older Australians Initiative (OAI) has been introduced to reduce the disproportionate impact of physical distancing measures associated with COVID-19 on the mental health and wellbeing of older people.

The OAI is intended to target people over 65 (or Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people over 55) living in the community who are experiencing social isolation and/or loneliness as a result of the pandemic and who are at risk of, or have, mental health issues. The OAI will align with the focus of the Social Connections Partnership Project.

The Clinical Mental Health Nurse OAI will have a strong focus on care coordination and increasing social connection for the older people living in the community; will establish a therapeutic relationship with the clients to assess and manage their mental and physical health needs; will conduct health risk assessments, monitor medication and provide support and information to carers while promoting connections to needed services.

Key responsibilities

1. Provide therapeutic and care coordination support to socially isolated older people who may have or be at risk of mental illness.
2. Establish therapeutic relationships with clients to assess their mental and physical health needs, through a holistic framework.
3. Promote connections to needed services and supports, including helping to restore access to services where they have been disrupted by the pandemic.
4. Provide brief, evidence-based therapies appropriate to the identified needs of the older person.

5. Raise awareness for GPs, RACF staff, health services, community groups and broader services of the likelihood of social isolation for older people.
 6. Provide a coordinated service approach to increase social interaction and provide referrals to appropriate services.
 7. Implement digital means of service delivery where appropriate.
 8. Provide supervision and support to students as required.
 9. Other duties commensurate with current skills and experience as agreed with the Program Leader, Manager, General Manager or the Chief Executive Officer.
